Read your story to a classmate.

Alice and Sue lived next door to a very strange old woman. She always wore black clothes and a pointed hat. She also had a black cat. On Halloween they decided to knock on her door to see if she would give them sweets. The old woman opened the door and said:

- Do you like sweets?
- Yes, said Alice and Sue.
- Well, I'd better give you some then.

Suddenly there was a puff of smoke and Alice realized that her _____ (word 1) had turned into a _____. (word 2) Then there was another puff of smoke and Sue had a huge _____ (word 3) where her _____ (word 4) had been. Just as there was another puff of smoke the black cat jumped up into the smoke. When the cat fell down to the ground it had turned into a huge _____. (word 5) It chased the old woman back into her house. Alice and Sue went back to normal after a while, but they didn't eat sweets for a long time afterwards.

Draw a picture that fits.

On Halloween, the stars shine bright. The kids go trick or treating.
The moon is full, the bats take flight and witches cackle greetings.
The cats are black, the ghosts are white, and the pumpkins are orange.
On Halloween each window has a candle that is glowing.
October is the spooky month for all you girls and boys.
And on each street on Halloween, the kids make lots of noise.
So, go and fill your candy bags and have fun, if you dare.
But just one thing you must beware, there are goblins everywhere!
